

Sample Questions

When should you place a casualty in the recovery position?

- a) When the casualty is not breathing normally
- b) When the casualty is responsive and alert
- c) When the casualty is breathing normally but unconscious
- d) When the paramedics arrive

During an asthma attack, the sufferer should take medication:

- a) Only from their own inhaler
- b) When you think it fit
- c) From any inhaler given to them
- d) Only when told by a paramedic

Coughed up bright red, frothy blood would indicate injury to the:

- a) Stomach
- b) Lungs
- c) Liver
- d) Small intestine

Which of the following could indicate that a casualty was suffering from shock?

- a) Flushed, cold clammy skin and rapid weak pulse
- b) Pale, cold clammy skin and slow strong pulse
- c) Pale, warm skin and slow strong pulse
- d) Pale, cold clammy skin and rapid weak pulse

A conscious casualty who has swallowed bleach should be:

- a) Encouraged to vomit
- b) Sat down, given sips of water and taken to hospital
- c) Told to go to the doctor
- d) Placed in the recovery position

A casualty with clear fluid spotted with blood coming from the ears could be suffering from:

- a) Concussion
- b) Ear infection
- c) Foreign body in the ear
- d) Skull fracture